Introduction

Materialistic Science Rejects the Afterlife as Being a "Fairy Story"

It is most unfortunate that the official viewpoint of mainstream science is that there is no afterlife. A recent statement by renowned physicist Stephen Hawking says that heaven is "a fairy story" for those afraid of death. When the brain shuts down, he assumes, all the senses stop working and all experiencing ceases forever. While assuming we are nothing more than physical computers, he states, "There is no heaven or afterlife for broken down computers." Conventional science even goes as far as to assume that all near-death experiences are simply the hallucinations of a dying brain.

Long before finding my own proof of the afterlife, I used to find such conclusions by science not only profoundly depressing, but absolutely terrifying. What a horrible and lonely feeling it must be to assume that all one's deceased loved ones are simply gone forever and then realizing you too (often after a long struggle with a disease or illness) will simply cease to exist one day! It is impossible to even imagine ceasing to exist and not ever having consciousness any more, especially in the view of the fact that physical life is already terribly hard, unfair and difficult for nearly everyone, even Stephen Hawking, who was diagnosed with Lou Gehrig's disease at the age of 21.

However, we can thank the Universe that the truth is always far stranger than fiction and far more merciful and complex than any pre-conclusions drawn by even the greatest of scientists! I know for certain there is far more to life than what is perceived on the surface. I am surprised that Stephen Hawking never acknowledged the incredible organization and infinite complexity of nature and the quantum field of ever-expanding space itself as evidence of the existence of a universally aware intelligence or multidimensional Creative Principle which we are all a part of.

The universe contains many surprises yet to be discovered. Did you know that the overwhelming majority of the material in the universe is made up of something called "dark matter" that astronomers don't even fully understand? And then there is dark energy, which is even more mysterious!

Some of the latest studies on consciousness done by scientists such as Dean Radin, Ph. D, have shown that awareness is definitely not limited to the physical brain as Stephen Hawking has assumed, and is not even dependent on its existence! The brain, rather than a producer of consciousness, seems to be more like a channel of information to and from an individual aspect of a universal quantum field of consciousness.

Having been blessed with an experience myself of consciousness (remote viewing) beyond my physical brain and physical senses, I know this is true! One time during meditation around 2006, I saw something happening 50 meters away from my apartment! I saw a vision of some workers on a roof. An hour later as I walked through an alley to check my mail box, I saw the exact same thing: there was some construction work going on at a neighbor's house: a new roof was being built.

Part 1 - Scientific Proof and Personal Experiences

1.1 - Here Are Four Scientifically Proven Out-of-Body Experiences

I keep seeing so often in so many forums, science articles, etc. that astral projection and life after death has never been scientifically proven. This assumption is simply not true! Just do a little research and you will find countless cases scientifically confirming the existence of a life beyond the physical clearly demonstrating over and over that consciousness is definitely not limited to the dimensions and/or lifespan of the human brain.

I studied other people's life after death experiences long enough to safely say that I am stuck no more with simply a "belief" in the afterlife, instead I enjoy a rather definite "knowing" that death is a great lie and not at all the final ending so many materialistic doctors and scientists would have us believe! Some of the best evidence comes from a large number of near-death experiences when the person was able to see and hear actual scenes that were later verified by doctors, researchers and scientists. Here are four scientifically proven well documented famous cases of actual out-of-body experiences:

1) There was a lady by the name of Maria who during a cardiac arrest, floated above the roof of a hospital and noted the precise details and whereabouts of a tennis shoe (with one of its laces tucked under and worn out at the area of its "big toe") stuck on the edge of a ledge. Later, her nurse, Kimberly Clark Sharp (author of "Beyond the Light"), found that tennis shoe on the roof exactly as described by Maria.

2) Then there is the fascinating case of Vicky Noratuk who, completely blind from birth, could actually see during her NDE. After a serious car accident in 1973, Vicky saw many vivid scenes from outside her physical body in the hospital and of the afterlife where she saw and recognized her friends Debby and Diane who already passed over several years ago. After she recovered she was able to clearly recall some of the events and conversation that took place in the hospital, the appearance of her physical body, and exactly how it was damaged.

3) There was also a lady by the name of Pam Reynolds (singer) who while having no brain activity whatsoever and no blood flowing at all through her brain, and with a body temperature lowered to 60 degrees F, could see from a viewpoint outside her body and floated around the room. She vividly and clearly recalled all the clinical details of her brain surgery and heard some of the conversation, even though she wore ear plugs taped over her ears with a beeping sound. All her details and conversations were later confirmed.

4) A young, unmarried woman by the name of "Miss Z" from Southern California was the subject of a laboratory study by psychic researcher Charles T. Tart originally published in the "Journal of the American Society for Psychical Research," 1968, vol. 62, no. 1, pp. 3-27. Miss Z claimed to undergo several spontaneous out of body experiences per week and was observed in Tart's sleep laboratory for four non-consecutive nights over a period of two months. Her movements were well controlled and carefully monitored while attached to multiple physiological recording devices such as two EEG channels and one REM channel, etc. A piece of paper with a clearly written unique five-digit random number was left on a small shelf five and a half feet above the subject's head every night after the woman was ready to fall asleep. At the end of the fourth night, she correctly called out the target number, 25132. With the odds of correctly guessing such a number being 1 in 100,000, I would have to say this is pretty strong evidence that her OOBEs were actual!

The above four are just a small sample of the vast research done on the out-of-body and near-death experiences encountered by millions of people every year. Nearly every case is quite dramatic and most definitely not simply the artifacts of a dying, hallucinating brain. Many scientists throughout history also came to the firm conclusion that there is life after death. Here are just a few of them: Allan Kardec, Esq., Dr. Alfred Russel Wallace, Sir William Crookes, The Rev. William Stainton Moses, Sir Oliver Lodge, Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, Dr. William James, The Rev. Charles Drayton Thomas, Dr. Hereward Carrington, Dr. Harry Price, and Elisabeth Kübler-Ross, M.D.

The most spectacular evidence I have ever found yet in my entire life is the collection of over three hundred paranormal voice recordings (lasting from 10 to 55 minutes each) in the presence of the direct voice medium Leslie Flint (1911-1994).

Leslie Flint must have been the most tried, proven and tested medium of the 20th century, without anyone, over a period of 60 years, ever being able to disprove him or expose him as a fraud. First-hand experiences of Leslie Flint’s seances forced skeptics to either give up their world view or try to make something up to have it seem as if it was anything other than the actual paranormal voices that could be clearly heard throughout the darkened seance room!

Much verifiable and extremely vital information came through Leslie Flint. The messages that came through Leslie Flint and related sources of information will be the main subject of this book.

1.2 - My Search for Truth and Personal Experiences from the Afterlife

Not knowing enough about the afterlife, I was at first quite skeptical regarding most of the available information out there, but very interested and hopeful that somehow there could be a way to not only prove the existence of an afterlife, but also to find ways that communication could be established with those who have passed over. I therefore studied the subject for over 36 years and listened with immense interest to hundreds of meaningful paranormal voice recordings from some well-known direct voice mediums and read hundreds of near-death and astral projection experiences.

The only way I know of to explain all this phenomenal evidence is there must be realms beyond the physical (perhaps consisting of dark matter), and from what I learned, the physical is one of the most dismal, limited and difficult realms. Every day while in this most limited and difficult condition called physical life, I simply can’t imagine there not being an afterlife!

I am not religious, I am spiritual; there is a vast difference between the spiritual, material and religious aspects of human thought. The material and religious aspects separate man from the reality of the afterlife in all manner of ways resulting in a great deal of darkness, emotional pain and confusion. In my early years I felt this emotional pain and horrible emptiness so succinctly that I began a lifelong and serious search for spiritual awareness through meditation and yoga nearly 40 years ago and eventually experienced some amazing phenomena...

Part 2 - Leslie Flint's Direct Voice Mediumship

2.1 - Leslie Flint: An Inconvenient Truth for Christian Theologians and Skeptical Scientists

There are so many individuals alive today still wondering whether there is life after death, and if there is, what sort of afterlife is it? How can one be sure of the information available today on such controversial subjects as this one? I studied all aspects of this subject quite seriously and as a skeptic since 1972.

Unfortunately there has been much misinformation on this subject floating around throughout history, mostly created by powerful priests, popes and bishops trying to keep the masses under their control. I have only recently found some sources of information that I can trust such as the near-death experiences of others, my own personal experiences, and the awesome Leslie Flint Educational Trust recordings.

One can visit The Leslie Flint Educational Trust website for a massive collection of absolutely genuine and lengthy (some lasting up to 50 minutes) paranormal voice recordings taped by George Woods, Betty Greene and many others from the mid 1950's to early 1990's. After extremely carefully analyzing all their work and all other recordings, I have to say, they are the most substantial breakthrough evidence in afterlife research ever.

At the Leslie Flint website, one can listen to an introductory message by one of Mr. Leslie Flint's sitters, Betty Greene, and there are recordings of radio programs, lectures, etc. explaining direct voice mediumship, and interviews with Leslie Flint which can also be found at the The Leslie Flint Educational Trust website (www.LeslieFlint.com).

It is best to keep an open mind and try to avoid any preconceived ideas, notions, and misconceptions, because direct voice mediumship is an extremely serious, delicate and intricate subject that very few understand or even take seriously. The dramatically varying paranormal voices have to go through several stages of thought to etheric to sound translation through the intermediary of ectoplasm before they can be physically heard and then recorded on tapes of varying quality. The original personalities, information, and various accents often come through extremely well and usually sounding very similar to how the person sounded while still alive.

Many of the personalities that come through are often channeled through a spirit much closer to the Earth vibration, because the levels of vibration or spheres that they come from are often too far removed (out of range) from the vibrational level of the voice box. Rather like a relay system with Leslie Flint being the physical medium or channel on Earth, while possibly the spirit guide Dr. Marshall, and spirit control, "Mickey" (John Whitehead who passed away at age 11 near beginning of the 20th century) provides the mediumship on the etheric level.

Spirits from much higher spheres can then communicate, however some of their original voice is lost. This is why many of the souls from the higher spheres may sometimes sound similar to Dr. Marshall or Mickey. The overall process is tricky and extremely complex. The astonishing thing is that we are able to hear anything at all, and that anyone in the world with a computer and an internet connection can now listen to a huge selection of them!

Still skeptical? It is an overwhelming tendency even among the most brilliant and professional scientific minds to completely dismiss a subject such as alien visitations or afterlife as completely false long before knowing anything about it. Such prejudice and ignorance is like the child who naively declares that science is completely false without first carefully understanding what science and the scientific method really are all about in the first place.

Those who in a closed-minded way condemn a subject solely based on what far too little they know about it already are indeed ignorant in the worst way. "Condemnation without investigation" kills knowledge. I also find the long held, dark age Christian belief that spiritualism is the "devil's work" equally irksome, absolutely non-scientific and frustrating. When it comes to realization of truth, especially regarding the afterlife, humankind has been extremely poor at it.

Mr. Leslie Flint (1911-1994) has to be one of the most authentic, most closely scrutinized, and verifiable sources of afterlife information ever, and was one of the most prolific mediums of the 20th century and the most thoroughly tested. I will explain to you why I think there is no way these voices could have been a hoax and why I am 100% convinced that the information that came through is real, verifiable and precise! You will see why it would be more incredible that they were somehow faked than actually be real souls speaking through in the candid, honest, from-the-heart, natural and casual manner that they had spoken in.

After very carefully listening to over 200 recordings (out of a collection of one thousand old tape recordings most of which are not yet available on the internet and taped by the sitters George Woods, Betty Greene and others from the late 1950's to early 1990's) and many more recently released, I can with 100% certainty guarantee that all of the recordings are of absolutely genuine people claiming to be dead! The whole effect is simply impossible to reproduce fraudulently.

One would need numerous impossibly talented child and adult actors and actresses just to recreate these tapes without copying them! Quite ordinary and natural-sounding disembodied personalities have been caught on tape! Regardless of the fact they were spirits or not, they were definitely real, sincere, honest-to-goodness-sounding people claiming to be spirits from another existence, and definitely NOT actors and definitely NOT those attempting to contrive or fraudulently represent spirits.

You must listen to all of the recordings carefully yourself to fully understand exactly what I mean and why I know they are genuine; by how the personalities presented themselves, how they sounded, the descriptions they conveyed, how they conversed very intelligently with the sitters, how they answered questions only the person would know, how some seemed to be able to read the sitter's mind(s), how some were able to see things going in a completely darkened room and recount the events of the day only the sitter had known about, the 100% meaningful...
